

Transportation Network Company (TNC) Access for All Program

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is implementing Senate Bill 1376 to bring on-demand accessible transportation to people who need a wheelchair-accessible vehicle (WAV).

What is the TNC Access for All program?

Since 2019, the Access for All program has increased the availability of on-demand transportation for persons with disabilities, including wheelchair users who need a wheelchair-accessible vehicle (WAV). California collects a 10-cent fee on every TNC trip (i.e., ride hailing services like Uber and Lyft) that starts in California, which is invested into providing on-demand WAV service.

Program Details

- 10-cents from every TNC trip in California goes to fund wheelchair-accessible rides.
- Provides financial incentives for TNCs to support on-demand WAV services.
- Creates partnerships with local agencies and access providers to invest in local WAV programs.

Access for All by the Numbers

- 22 California counties served with on-demand wheelchair accessible transportation since 2019.
- $54.9 million invested in WAV service and outreach by TNCs.
- $23.6 million awarded to fund regional and local non-TNC WAV service.
- Approximately 133,000 WAV trips provided across 22 counties since July 2019.
- 11 county agencies are expanding on-demand WAV services locally.
