CPUC Approves Program to Help Local Governments, Tribes, and Nonprofits Close the Digital Divide

In an ongoing commitment to the state's Broadband For All objectives, the CPUC has adopted requirements and guidelines for a $750 million program that will help local governments, tribes, and non-profits to finance publicly-owned broadband infrastructure projects.

The Broadband Loan Loss Reserve Fund provides a credit enhancement for financing broadband infrastructure deployed by local governments, non-profits, or tribes. The support will enhance project feasibility by providing collateral to enable public broadband bonds and more favorable borrowing rates and terms for bonds or loans.

The program will hold funding cycles three times per year. Portions of program funding are allocated specifically for projects serving Senate Bill 535 Disadvantaged Communities, low-income households, and Tribal lands. Applications will be recommended for award based on factors including the amount of financing supported by the program, whether the proposed project will benefit locations without broadband access, whether the applicant will offer a low-cost plan, and the service life of the infrastructure being deployed.

The Fund was created as part of Senate Bill 156, the historic broadband legislation enacted in 2021, and is codified in Public Utilities Code 281.2.

CPUC Names New Chief Administrative Law Judge

The CPUC announced this month that it appointed a new Chief Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), Michelle Cooke.

The CPUC's ALJ Division supports CPUC decision-making by processing formal filings, facilitating alternative dispute resolution, conducting hearings, developing an adequate administrative record, preparing timely proposals for CPUC Commissioner consideration, and preparing and coordinating CPUC Voting Meeting agendas.

Chief ALJ Cooke has been with the CPUC for more than 30 years, since starting as a Public Utilities Regulatory Analyst. Subsequently, she has served in numerous capacities and held a variety of positions, such as a Commissioner Advisor, ALJ, Assistant Chief ALJ, Director, and Deputy Executive Director. Most recently she served as acting Chief ALJ following the retirement of the prior Chief ALJ.

These experiences have given Chief ALJ Cooke an understanding of nearly every subject area regulated by the CPUC, as well as the internal operations of a large organization. Chief ALJ Cooke's penchant for figuring out how to address complicated policy and process issues effectively and efficiently will contribute to the CPUC's work in making informed decisions in a timely manner. ■

GET TO KNOW US:

Meet Robyn C. Purchia, Administrative Law Judge

In all formal CPUC proceedings, at least one Commissioner and an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) are assigned to establish the scope for the proceeding and guide it through the regulatory process. One of the CPUC's newest ALJ's is Robyn Purchia. She joined the ALJ Division after four years in the CPUC's Legal Division. Here, we get to know a little bit about Robyn.

Question: What do you find most inspiring about working for the CPUC?

Answer: First is the breadth and ever-changing nature of our work. There is always something new to learn about railroad, water, energy, telco, and transportation regulation. It's hard to get bored! Second is the people. Many of my colleagues have been at the CPUC for decades and I think that one of the reasons for that longevity is that working here is fulfilling professionally and personally. It feels purposeful to uphold the public interest during the workday. And, after those hours, it feels wonderful to spend time with family and developing my own interests. I have colleagues who have done incredibly admirable work for the CPUC and have also written novels, learned multiple languages, and spent time volunteering in the community. The people who work at the CPUC are very inspiring!

Q: What does a typical day look like for you, and what are you currently working on?

A: When I was in Legal Division, I worked on a variety of proceedings from the PG&E General Rate Case, to transmission permitting, to ferry services, to safety investigations. I look forward to continue working on a breadth of issues as an Administrative Law Judge.

Q: What trends or industry changes do you think will have the biggest impact on you, as well as your job?

A: Climate change and California's efforts to mitigate greenhouse gas emissions are significantly impacting the industries the CPUC regulates, as well as us all individually. I think that my job will continue to focus on ensuring that utilities provide safe, affordable, and reliable service in this changing landscape, while also complying with the state's climate goals.

"...my job will continue to focus on ensuring that utilities provide safe, affordable, and reliable service in this changing landscape, while also complying with the state's climate goals."

Robyn C. Purchia,
Administrative Law Judge

Q: What are you currently watching on television or streaming?

A: I love the "The Great British Bake Off," and plan to make Prue's Lemon & Thyme Bundt soon.

Q: What is something that you have always wanted to try or learn?

A: I would love to learn more about botany and foraging. There are so many edible and medicinal plants around us.

Q: What activities do you enjoy doing in your free time?

A: I picked up running during the pandemic (not something I previously enjoyed at all). At a time when we were all confined, I came to enjoy the feeling of freedom and exploration that comes with long-distance running. I've explored trails and neighborhoods all over the world, and am training for my third half marathon!

Q: What is the best piece of advice you have ever received on the job or in life?

A: Never assume. People will surprise you! ■

CPUC INFORMATIONAL WEBINAR

California Teleconnect Fund Recertification

Register now for the CPUC's free webinar on the California Teleconnect Fund \(CTF\), which provides eligible organizations with discounted rates on selected telecommunications and broadband services. During this virtual event, CPUC staff will discuss the CTF application processes.

WHEN: Dec. 11, 2023, 10 – 11 a.m.

WHAT: The CTF is dedicated to ensuring that eligible California organizations have access to discounted telecommunication services. This initiative aims to promote digital equity and enhance the quality of life for all Californians. During the webinar, CPUC staff will cover the following topics: CTF rules surrounding recertification; recertification demonstration; required documentation for recertification and contact information for participants; deficiencies; and determination. This is the third webinar on CTF in a series of five held to ensure maximum communication on this important program.

REGISTER HERE

Video and call-in options will be provided through email after registration.

The CTF plays a crucial role in bridging the digital divide by providing eligible organizations with discounted rates on select telecommunications and broadband services. These services help ensure that underserved communities, schools, libraries, and healthcare facilities have access to affordable and reliable telecommunications infrastructure. ■
